Witmart.com Provides Skilled Professional Translators in Ten Languages to Meet Urgent Requests of Translated Documents in Less Than a Day

HOUSTON, Texas, Sep 13, 2012 (GlobeNewswire via COMTEX) -- via PRWEB - Witmart.com, the leading online marketplace provider for services, digital goods, and design, is offering translation services through many of their 7 million users who are experienced in the art of translating documentation. This service allows businesses to utilize Witmart's large talent pool of over 100,000 native translators to find the right fit for their translation needs at a price that is remarkably better than other similar providers. Witmart's advantage is in their ability to return final translations of three hundred words or less in less than one day. For greater than three hundred words, multiple sample translations will be completed in less than twenty-four hours.

Due to their worldwide exposure through their sister site ZBJ.com, Witmart offers providers with considerable levels of experience in translation services. Many of the top translation requests Witmart receives on a regular basis are for English to Chinese, English to Spanish, English to French, Chinese to Japanese, Chinese to French, and Chinese to English. Translation prices paid to providers are traditionally based on the number of words given to the provider to translate. Witmart gives employers the option to set a flexible rate for their translation job with a minimum rate of $0.029/word.

"I used Witmart to translate a 20,000 word medical article from English to Chinese. After just a few days, I received nearly 40 different professional translation works for $600. The quality of the manuscript was very good and I am more than satisfied with the result," echoes recent Witmart employer Kevin Hall. Other Witmart customers are finding a similar experience, "I never thought I could spend only $300 on Witmart to translate my website from English to French. The winner delivered results very fast. Communication was easy when working with Witmart's state-of-the-art website technology. I have no reservations in using Witmart again in the future," says satisfied customer Amanda Stevenson.

Witmart guarantees 100% satisfaction and 24 hour turnaround time to their employers. Each posted translation job is handled with care with a 100% human powered approach. Employers have the ability to research each provider that submits a bid to gauge the fit to their organizational needs. Witmart can be contacted at any time for assistance with choosing a provider or answering questions about translation services needs. They always offer a 100% money back guarantee if the work is unsatisfactory.
